

L. P. Fisher

The Democrat

WOODLAND, YOLO COUNTY CALIFORNIA: THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1879.

VOL. XII.

Published every Thursday morning, by WM. SAUNDERS,
Editor and Proprietor.

Office—Freeman's Block, cor. 1st and Main Sts.

TERMS:
One copy, one year, $4.00
If paid in advance, $3.00
One copy, six months, $2.00
One copy, three months, $1.00

RATES OF ADVERTISING:
One square (9 lines or less), first insertion, $1.50
Each subsequent insertion, 10 cents
A liberal discount made from above rates for quarterly or yearly advertisers.
Legal advertising at rates established by law.
Star notices in the local department, ten cents a line for the first and five cents a line for each subsequent insertion.
All transient advertisements must be paid for in advance.

WOODLAND BUSINESS DIRECTORY.
Cards in this Directory, two lines, Daily and Weekly, $1 per month; or in advance $10 a year.

PHYSICIANS AND DENTISTS.

- D. E. L. PARRAMORE, office at Elston and White's Drug Store, Galbraith's Block.
D. G. G. H. JACKSON, office over Webster's Drug Store, office at Elston and White's.
D. THOS. ROSS, Physician and Surgeon, office
at Freeman's Drug Store.
D. A. C. STONG, Physician and Surgeon, office
at Freeman's Drug Store.
D. A. B. MERRITT, Physician and Surgeon,
office at Freeman's Drug Store.
D. R. H. PIERSON, Physician and Surgeon,
office at Freeman's Drug Store.
D. W. T. LUCAS, office over Webster's Drug Store, one door west of Express Office.
C. E. PINKHAM, M. D., Homeopathic Physician, office over Bank of Woodland.
D. R. H. HOLMES, Dentist, office up stairs Bank Building.
D. R. L. WELLES, German Physician, office and res. at 1st, first house south of Main.
D. A. N. HOIGREN, Practical Dentist, Room
2 up stairs, Excelsior Block.
D. A. N. DICK, Practical Dentist, office over Webster's drug store.

ATTORNEYS, NOTARIES, ETC.

- E. R. RUSH, Attorney-at-Law and Searcher of Records, office at Court House.
C. H. GAROUTTE, Attorney-at-Law, office in Court House.
W. B. TREADWELL, Attorney-at-Law, office at Court House.
J. C. BALL, Attorney-at-Law and Notary
Public, office over Bank of Woodland.
J. P. SPRAGUE, Attorney and Counselor at Law, office in Bank Building.
JOHN LAMBERT, Attorney at Law and Notary Public, office at G. S. Freeman's.
C. F. PRATT, Attorney at Law, Conveyancer, Land Act, one door west of Express Office.
S. O. HARPER, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Harper's building, up stairs.
E. BAKER, Attorney at Law and Notary Public, Room 1, Excelsior Block.
MARSHALL, CRAIG & GRANT, Attys. and Counselors, Law, Excelsior Block.
D. H. RIBBY, Attorney-at-Law and Justice of the Peace, office in Town Hall.
GEORGE ALFORD, Town Marshal and General Collector, office at Court House.
W. R. POWERS, Constable for Cache Creek Township, office in Town Hall.
NIGHT-WATCHMAN and Police Officer,
Wm. Coulter, headquarters at Town Hall.

VARIOUS MANUFACTURERS.

- WOODLAND FLOURING MILL, J. F.
Rhodes, N. W. cor. First and Court streets.
P. KRELLBERG, Furniture Dealer and Manufacturer, S. W. cor. Main and Third.
MRS. T. C. POKKMAN, Shirt Manufacturer,
Main Block, near First street, north of Main.
RAG CARPET MANUFACTURER, west of Ragby's, corner, south side Main street.
J. K. SMITH, General Furniture Dealer, College Block, near Railroad street.
BROOM MANUFACTURER, L. Carpenter, Rue Building, near Exchange Hotel.
H. P. MARTIN, Patent Shoe Manufacturer and Marble Works, cor. Main and 3d Sts.
BANK, INSURANCE, LAND & GRAIN.
BANK OF WOODLAND, Money Lender and Exchange dealer, cor. Main and First.
THOMAS & HUNT, Buy and Store grain, etc., office in Excelsior Block.
AUGUST & BROWNELL, Dealers in Grain, Wool, etc., in Express Office.
GEORGE D. FISKE, Life, Accident and Fire Insurance, Land Agency, etc., P. O. block.
HARLAN & STEPHENS, Dealers in Grain,
Wool, etc., office, near Bank of Woodland.
W. L. FARGO & CO. EXPRESS, W. F.
Moore, agent, one door west of Bank.

VARIETY STORES.

- WOODLAND VARIETY STORE, Gen. C. S.
Lodge, Stationery, Toys, etc., opp. College.
VARIETY STORE, Mrs. P. H. Giffey, Groceries, Tobacco, Toys, etc., opp. College.
U. S. LABUSIER, Fruits, Nuts, Candies, Tobacco, etc., opposite Postoffice.
J. O'CONNOR, Stationery, Candles, Nuts,
Tobacco, etc., next door to Fashionables.
HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.
CAPITAL HOTEL, John Tackney, Proprietor, corner Main and First streets.
CRAFT HOTEL, J. J. McConnell, Proprietor,
Main street, bet. First and Railroad streets.
AMERICAN EXCHANGE, M. H. Torrence,
Main, between Second and Third streets.
TACKNEY HOUSE, John Tackney, Proprietor,
West Main street, opp. Catholic Church.
HELVETIA HOTEL, P. Borge, Proprietor, south side of Main, and west of R. R. side.
FRENCH RESTAURANT, R. Denney, Proprietor, two doors west of Express Office.
PALEACE RESTAURANT, Mr. P. Davidson, Proprietor, Main street, opp. College.
W. M. RAWSON, Private Boarding House,
Main Block, East Main street.

BUTCHERS, BAKERS, ETC.

- Y. L. MARKET, Fraser & Co. old stand, north side of Main, bet. 1st and 2d streets.
WOODLAND BAKERY, Otto Schuler, Proprietor,
First st., north of Capital Hotel.
WOODLAND MEAT MARKET, Barnes &
Co., a few doors west of Postoffice.
Y. L. (Branch) MARKET, Fraser & Co., southeast corner Main and Railroad st.
AUGUST DIPUDIMIO, Fish and Game
Market, third door east of Postoffice.
MILLINERS AND DRESSMAKERS.
M. MILLIE ROBINSON, Fashionable
Dressmaking, at Green's, College block.
MRS. WEBBER, Fashionable Dressmaker in all styles, over Nickelsburg's store.
MRS. H. U. OGBURN, Millinery in the latest mode, one door east of Postoffice & Co.
MRS. M. C. CURTIS, Dressmaking, all styles, etc., east of Postoffice.
MRS. W. W. PORTER & CO., Fashionable
Millinery, College block, Main street.

PLANING MILLS & LUMBER YARDS.

- PLANING MILLS, Caldwell Bros. Prop's., also Contractors, etc., near Water Works.
RAILROAD PLANING MILLS, H. D. White,
L. Wood and Iron work, Main st. near Depot.
DIONEER LUMBER YARDS, H. H. Newton
& Co., corner Court and Railroad streets.
DUGST SOUND LUMBER YARDS, A. Powell manager, near railroad.

CARPENTERS AND PLASTERERS.

- CARSON & GLEN, Architects and Builders, shop in White's Planing Mill, near R. R.
RO. W. MYRICK, Carpenter and Joiner, Householder, etc., no. Fabricio's Hotel.
STAMP, Carpenter, Householder, etc., residence on Railroad street.
J. C. NEFF, Plastering, Kalsomining, etc.,
residence on Railroad street.

WAGON-MAKERS, BLACKSMITHS, & C.

- R. B. JOHNSON, all kinds of Blacksmithing, opposite Tackney's, Main street.
DERBY & HARRIS, Blacksmiths and Machinery, First street, south of Bank.
J. H. VEREIGN, Wagon Maker and Blacksmith, shop on First street, north of Main.
DUNPHY & STOCKING, Blacksmiths, Householder, etc., opp. Freeman's Hotel.
B. E. READY, Blacksmith, Horseshoe, etc., southeast corner Main and 4th streets.
D. FITZGERALD, Blacksmithing and Horseshoeing, Main street, opp. Tackney House.
WEAVER, Wagon and Carriage Maker,
A. Blacksmithing, etc., east of Wash'n Hall.

MISCELLANEOUS.

- DAILY AND WEEKLY DEMOCRAT, Wm.
Saunders, Editor, Main street.
Y. L. MAIL, W. F. Theobald, Editor and Publisher, office in Burns' block.
DEPUCE & CO., Compilers "Illustrated History of Yolo County," Excelsior Block.
WOODLAND WATER WORKS, J. W. Peck, supervisor, Main street and 4th streets.
FRANK DUNSTON, Bill Poster and Advertising Agent, P. O. box 192.
NEWS DEPOT, E. Berg, Papers, Periodicals, from all parts the world, opp. Capital Hotel.
WOODLAND GAS WORKS, J. D. Stephens
Pres't, P. M. Box 100, Supr. and Maint.
WOODLAND PAULTRY YARD, Mrs. C. H.
Hartson, east of Railroad Depot.
WOODLAND NURSERIES, J. E. Card, residence Railroad st., south of Lincoln Ave.

PHOTOGRAPHERS AND PAINTERS.

- PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY, W. F. King,
every style of Photography, over Court & Co.
PORTABLE PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY,
W. J. Vanderveer, Exchange Hotel corner.
H. H. HERNLEIN, House, Sign and Carriage
Painter, south side Main, bet. 2d and 3d Sts.
J. H. HARTSON, House and Sign Painter, Washington Hall building.

HARNESS-MAKERS, ETC.

- J. J. PRIOR, Harness Maker and Dealer in Harness and Saddle Materials, Prior's drug store.
D. D. DYE, Harness, Saddles, Robes, Whips, etc., Main street, opp. Express Office.
C. B. RYLAND, Carriage Trimmer, etc., shop
next door east of Town Hall.
D. THOMAS & BROS., Harness Makers, etc., south side Main, near Railroad street.

GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS.

- G. SCHWALM, Groceries and Provisions, opposite Washington Hall.
J. I. RATON, Groceries, Provisions, Fruits, Vegetables, etc., cor. Main and Third st.
J. I. ADAMS, Groceries, Provisions, Fruits, Vegetables, etc., Main street, near Second.
GEORGE T. SON, Groceries and Provisions,
J. I. Adams' block, Galbraith's Block.
D. PORTER & CO., Groceries, Provisions, Gen'l Family Supplies, Craft House Block.
LIVERY AND FEED STABLES.
LIVERY AND FEED STABLES, Pockman
Fitzgerald, corner Main and Third.
CITY LIVERY AND BOARDING STABLES,
Uncle Henry, opposite Exchange Hotel.
FLORADO LIVERY STABLES, T. C. Pockman, Main street, near Third.

FASHION LIVERY AND FEED STABLES.

- M. J. LAWSON, cor. Main and R. R. st.

HARDWARE, TINWARE, ETC.

- H. B. WOOD, Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Farming Tools, Wagons, etc., Main street.
F. S. FREEMAN & CO., Hardware, Farming implements, Machinery, etc., College Block.
H. K. BROS., Stoves, Tin and Water Pipe Fitting, Pumps, etc., College Block.
C. D. MORIN, Stoves, Tinware, Water Tanks,
Gas and Water Pipes, opp. Express Office.
P. GRISWOLD, Stoves, Tinware, Gas and Water Pipes, Pumps, etc., near Postoffice.
BARBERS AND BATH ROOMS.
H. HUMMEL, Shaving 25 cents, Hair cutting 25 cents, opp. Fashionables.
M. L. DIZLER, Fashionable Barber, Hair-cutting 25 cents, Shampooing 25c. College Block.
C. B. BROWN, opp. Capital Hotel; Shaving
25c, Hair-cutting 25c, Shampooing, etc.
BATH ROOMS AND BARBER SHOP, P. F.
Jones, one door east of Craft House.
J. A. SCOTT, Pioneer Barber, one door east of Fraser & Co's butcher shop.

SALOONS, BREWERIES, ETC.

- DEBREWERY, Bell-Capital Hotel, Block
Prietors, west Main street, north side.
WOODLAND BREWERY, With Brothers,
Lincoln Avenue, west end.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL LIQUORS, L.
Dreyfus, opposite Express Office.
PACIFIC SALOON, C. Selber, Wines, Liquors, Cigars, etc., next to Pendegast & Co.
DINZLER'S SALOON & LUNCH HOUSE,
Adam Dinzler, S. E. cor. 2d and Court st.
CACHE CHEEK SALOON, Thomas Barnes, Liquors, Cigars, west of Fashionables.
HARRY GALLIHER, Eagle Saloon, Pines and Dietz Block, Main street.
A. DEHLER, San Francisco Beer, Wines and Liquors, opposite Capital Hotel.
ASKY'S SALOON, L. Asky, Wines, Liquors & Cigars, next to Capital Hotel.
DIONEER SALOON, W. W. Woods, Wines, Liquors, etc., opposite Postoffice.
B. B. MORRIS, Wines, Liquors and Cigars, Main street, opposite Postoffice.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE SALOON, Voorse, near Capital Hotel.

CAPITAL SALOON, John Tackney, Wines, Liquors, etc., in Hotel building.

GOLDEN EAGLE SALOON, John Moore, Wines, etc., next Wood's Hardware Store.

RAFT SALOON, C. Barr, Wines, Liquors and Cigars, east of Craft Hotel.

STEARNS' OLD CORNER, H. Stearns,
Wines, etc., northeast cor. Main and R. R. st.

FASHION SALOON, Wilcox & Sprout, Wines, etc., northwest cor. Main and R. R. st.

SWISS SALOON, C. Bush, Wine, Beer and Cigars, near Capital Hotel.

EXCHANGE SALOON, A. W. Tucker, cor. of American Exchange Hotel.

EMPIRE SALOON, Geo. W. Bentley, Cor.
2d and Main streets.

WOODLAND WINERY, J. A. Clark, Proprietor, opp. Water Works, east Main st.

DRUGGISTS AND JEWELERS.

- W. PROCTOR, Drugs, Paints, Perfumery,
etc., one door east of Porter's Grocery.
D. L. WHITE, Drugs, Paints, Stationery, Perfumery, etc., Galbraith's Block.
MACK WEBBER, Drugs, Medicines, Perfumery, etc., one door west of Express Office.
W. GREEN, Clocks, Watches, Jewelry, Stationery, Toys, etc., College Block.
J. MACHEPPE, Clocks, Watches, Jewelry,
etc., one door east of Porter's grocery.
C. S. GRAY, Clocks, Watches and Jewelry, in D. M. Store, opp Express Office.

TAILORS AND HOSIERS.

- RENOT BROOK, Fashionable Merchant Tailors, north side Main, west of Railroad st.
J. A. BUTZ, Fashionable Merchant Tailor,
College Block.
Z. KIRK, Merchant Tailor, Repairer, etc.,
College Block.

DOOT AND SHOEMAKER, Wm. Williams,
one door west of Adams' Grocery.

MILLER, Boot and Shoemaker, two doors east of Postoffice.

JOHN ZIEGLER, Boot and Shoemaker, next door to Knox's Barber shop.

J. G. HUDSON, Boot and Shoemaker, southwest corner Main and Railroad streets.

A. STAMPEL, Boot and Shoemaker, a few doors east of Washington Hall.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

- R. FORRESTER, Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, etc., opposite Postoffice.
NICKELSBURG & BROS., Dry Goods, Clothing, Groceries, etc., Freeman's Block.
A. ALEXANDER, Dry Goods, Clothing, Furnishings Goods, etc., White House.
H. H. MAK & LEVY, Dry Goods, Clothing,
Shoes, etc., opp. Express Office.
COULINER & CO., Dry Goods, Clothing, Toys, Hats, Hosiery, etc., Bank Building.
C. PENDGAST & CO., Boots and Shoes,
Clothing, etc., north side of Main street.

MUSIC AND MUSIC TEACHERS.

- JOHN A. APPERSON, Teacher of Brass and String Music, one door west of Postoffice.
THE ELLIS BAND, L. Ellis, Leader; Brass and String Music furnished on application.

Churches, Societies, Etc.

- Christian Church, Railroad street south of Main; services Sunday morning and evening,
and Thursday evening.
Methodist Episcopal, First street south of Main; services Sunday morning and evening,
and Thursday evening.
Baptist, Washington Hall, West Main street; services Sunday morning, and Tuesday and Friday evenings.
Hesperian College—J. N. Pendegast, President; J. K. Smith, Secy.; Faculty—Prof.
A. M. Elston, R. A. Grant, F. A. Fiedler, W. C.
Ridgway, I. Brown; Miss Edna Edwards, Music Teacher.
Public School, J. W. Goin, Principal; Assistants—Miss Beattie Woods, Miss Jennie Dexter, Miss M. E. Freeman, Miss Gena Lawson, Miss Grant, Miss DeLong and Miss J. A.
Kendall.
Public Library, opposite Capital Hotel, 3d and 4th streets.
R. A. M. Hall East Main street between 3d and 4th.
R. A. M. meet at Masonic Hall 1st Wednesday in each month.
Old Fellows' Hall over Bank of Woodland;
meet Saturday night.
Good Templars, Hall West Main street, south side; meet Wednesday evening.
A. O. U. W. meet in Odd Fellows Hall Tuesday evening.
O. K. B. (Jewish) meet Sunday at Odd Fellows' Hall.
Knights of Pythias meet Monday evening at Good Templars Hall.
The Young Men's Association meet Wednesday in each month.
Ladies Relief Society, Mrs. A. Alexander,
President; Mrs. W. J. Brownell, Vice-President; Mrs. C. W. Bush, Treasurer; Mrs. D.
Parramore, Secretary.
Woodland Fire Company, No. 1, W. F. Moses Foreman, L. Chase Engineer.
County Agricultural Society Watkins President, J. K. Smith Secretary.
Woodland Race Course—Parker manager, Postoffice, L. Walker P. M.
Telephone Office, Postoffice building, R. A.
Fitzgerald operator.
Public Halls—Central Hall, Geo. D. Fiske manager; Washington Hall, W. W. Porter manager; Turnverein Hall, Otto Schuler manager.
Real Estate Agent, E. Valentine; residence at the Depot.

County and Town Officers.

- S. C. Denison, District Judge Sixth Judicial District for Yolo Co.—Regular Terms, January, May and September.
E. B. Bush, County and Probate Judge.
John Lambert, Joint Senator for Yolo and Solano.
W. M. DOWDY, Assemblyman.
Supervisors—Y. Moring, J. C. Smith, Wm.
Shins, R. H. Hester, R. H. Newton.
Carey Barker, Sheriff; John E. Malby, Under Sheriff.
D. M. BURNS, Clerk and Auditor.
W. M. BARNES, Assessor.
H. B. PENDGAST, Supr. Public Schools.
James R. Smith, County Engineer.
S. L. WARDEN, Public Administrator.
P. Krellenberg, Coroner.
County Hospital—Physician, Thomas Ross, Warden, B. H. Barlow.
Town Trustees—Jos. Viern, John R. Rhodes, Nicksburg, Otto Schuler, Christ Rhodes; Marsh—George Alfred.
Policemen—Wm. Coulter and Del Simon.
Justice of the Peace—W. F. Sidney.
Constables—Warren Powers, S. M. Norton.

ED. MARSHALL, J. CRAIG, W. H. GRANT,
MARSHALL, CRAIG & GRANT,
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS-AT-LAW.
Special attention to Patent Suits and Probate
Cases. Excelsior Block, Woodland, apdw Tackney's.

ORRICK HAYMOND, DARWIN C. ALLEN, HAYMOND & ALLEN,
ATTORNEYS AND COUNSELLORS AT-LAW.
Office over Gilg, Mott & Co's, No. 33 street, Sacramento.

J. C. BALL,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
AND COMMISSIONER IN BANKRUPTCY.
Office over Bank of Woodland, Main street, Woodland, Cal. apdw

DR. GEORGE H. JACKSON, SURGEON AND PHYSICIAN.
Office, one door west of Express Office, East Second St., between Lincoln and Oak Avenues. feldw

DR. W. T. LUCAS,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office, over Thomas & Bidwell's Store, Main Street, Woodland. feldw

ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW.
Searcher of Records and Conveyancer,
Office in Court House, Woodland, Cal. feldw

F. E. BAKER,
ATTORNEY & COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW, AND Notary Public.
Practices in District and Supreme Courts.
Office in Excelsior Block, Woodland. feldw

DR. A. STROGO,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office, Proctor's Drug Store, Woodland,
Cal. promptly responded to at all hours.
mbldw

THOMAS ROSS, M. D. C. N., PHYSICIAN & SURGEON.
Office at Proctor's Drug Store. Residence, College Street, fourth house south of Main.
fildw

L. WELLES, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
(Dresser) Hall, Woodward and Gehrbach's.
Office and Residence—First house on First South of Main Street. fildw

TO ALL WHO LOVE JUSTICE.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:—For many years the people of California have been demanding through every channel open to them, certain reforms in the administration of the State, county and municipal governments. The laboring and producing classes knew and fully realized that they were bearing an unjust proportion of the governmental burden, while a favored few, including private capitalists and land and corporate monopolists, were enjoying an undue proportion of its benefits, and were almost entirely relieved from its burdens. The demand for relief culminated in the recent Constitutional Convention, and the result is before the people for their final action. A copy of the new Constitution is before me, and after a careful perusal and comparison, the conclusion is unavoidable that the people have been demanding for justice and right in their demands; if the press has been honest in its profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if
public men have been honest in their profession of devotion for justice and right; and
in a word, if the grievances of the masses
we complain exist, the remedy is at hand;
and the further conclusion is irresistible—
that if justice is to be done, the people have
been demanding for justice and right in their
demands; if the press has been honest in its
profession of friendship for the masses; if

The Yolo Democrat.

WOODLAND, YOLO CO., CAL.
THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1879.

Life Misunderstood.

We go through life understanding
And misunderstanding,
We live too prone to see in others
Erl instead of good.
We cannot read each others' hearts,
There is a hidden history
In every life, we are to each other
All a mystery.
In every heart there is a grave,
Where we lay,
One by one, our crushed hopes down,
Till all decay.
The ever passing cares of earth
We there conceal,
Till life has no more bitterness
That we can feel.
Jealousy, hatred and strife Too often find
A place in that receptacle,
The human mind.
Till love, hope and sympathy Cannot abound,
For vile, ungenerous passions hold
The vantage ground.
At last the soul in ruin sinks,
At what a cost!
Then grim death snags the vital chord
And all is lost.

—Hattie E. S. O.

A Bouquet of Flowers.

In 1872, during a bright day in May, the post coach from the Chateau de Breine was thrown open in order to allow a traveling carriage to pass. Before entering the vehicle, Ernest de Merieux accompanied his aunt, the Countess de Breine, in a short walk in the park. The conversation between them seemed animated, particularly on the part of the dowager. The young man listened respectfully, but as one who, although silent, was none the less determined to follow the dictates of his own will.

"Yes, nephew," said the countess, "you are foolish, to say the least, and humiliating as it may be to make the admission, I cannot retract my words."

"But, dear aunt—"

"You are twenty-eight years of age," she continued, "are good-looking, well-mannered and nobly born; moreover, possess a fortune, and have excellent expectations through me. What, pray, are you doing with your advantages?"

"What would you have me?" inquired Ernest. "Obtain a position at Court, or become some prefect?"

"Sarcasm is no reply," responded the countess, in a tone of annoyance. "What I mean is this: you must cease to be useless to others and to yourself also. You must marry and have heirs."

"I ask nothing better, my dear aunt," replied de Merieux; "but I am, as you know, romantic, and I firmly acknowledge that I should be loath to enter into any union where only the cold formality of convenience existed, and where sentiment was entirely ignored."

"Ah! indeed," interrupted his listener, "you are one of those who desire sympathy, and believe in the existence of elective affinities. Two souls who, although divided, are yet so ardently united that they meet at last. Believe, me, Ernest, experience has taught me the folly of cherishing such thoughts. Renounce, my boy, the scheme of seeking this woman of your dreams, this sweet love of your fancy. I admit she has but one fault; but that fault lies in the fact that she never existed."

"But suppose she does exist, and that the being you depict as a mere chimera is a real reality?"

"Can it be possible that you have given your heart? Why did you not sooner tell me your secret? Where is the lady?"

"I do not know."

"Is she a young girl?"

"I cannot answer."

"A widow, perhaps?"

"Perhaps."

"Where did you meet her? How will you recognize her?"

"I cannot say, for I have never seen her face."

"This is absolutely absurd. You are jesting with me."

"Listen, and be lenient and indulgent," responded the young man. "Did you remember," he continued, "the visit I paid you some three years ago?"

"Yes; it was during the close of summer, and you were unusually thoughtful and melancholy."

"I came in the diligence, as I had lost several games of whist at Baden, and was condemned to the inconvenience of practicing economy."

"Very true."

"Well, it is of that journey I propose to speak. At first I was entirely alone in the coupe. Night approached. It was just such a case as Shakespeare would have chosen for one of his fantastic dreams. Toward nine o'clock, when we stopped at Dreaux for relays, the door of the ponderous stage coach was thrown open and some travelers entered. I was greatly inclined to resent the intrusion, and very heartily, though silently, wished them to the devil. I had much enjoyed the undisturbed quiet and my own thoughts. The first individual who appeared was an old man; he was stoutly built and wore several decorations. He grumbled lustily as he seated himself in the corner. Accompanying the individual was a woman who, by her vivacity and supple movements, I imagined must be very young. Her throat and shoulders were enveloped in a black silk scarf, and she wore a Leghorn hat trimmed with blonde, a fall of which would have hidden her face, even if it had not been too dark for me to catch a glimpse of her features. From some observations made I learned that they were going to visit a relative who resided at a chateau a few miles from Alencon. Their post chaise had met with an accident, and they were, consequently, compelled to use the diligence. I cannot express to you, dear aunt, the peculiar charm exercised over me by the lady. Her grace was irresistible, and her conversation expressed her intelligence. As she conversed with her companion and myself, she was gay, witty, sentimental, or melancholy. I realized I was in the society of those belonging to, or who claimed, aristocracy of birth."

"Toward morning we reached their destination, and I knew we would part company."

"Come, Louise," said the old man, "we have arrived at last; we will seek shelter at the first farm-house we come across, and then send to inform my cousin of our misadventure. She will send the carriage and we shall be driven at once to the chateau."

"I felt as though I was to be deprived of happiness, of everything, in fact, with her departure; and yet, until this very hour, I knew not whether the woman, who made an impression on me, is the wife or daughter of the gentleman in question. Neither the conductor nor the postillion could give me any information respecting them."

"All you know is that her baptismal name is Louise."

"I have also a bouquet of marguerites that my heroine left fall as she passed from the diligence—whether accidental or intentional I am unable to say; but, at all events, I cherish them as a relic of her dear presence."

"My dear Ernest, there are many women named Louise, and many marguerites have changed hands in like manner, therefore I must say that I regret your loss of common sense."

"Well, I will not deny that I may be foolish, but I none the less desire to hug my ideal to my heart. I have her name to think of, and her bouquet to cherish. Often little more remains to many of us in life, and yet they recall happy hours. And now adieu, aunt," added de Merieux. "In September I will return to you again; then you can scold me and I will listen."

"Perhaps," responded Ernest. "My boy, I fear words are idle," added the countess. "I am too old to correct you. At all events, you may believe fully that your happiness is dearer to me than my own."

In a few moments parting kisses were exchanged, and Monsieur de Merieux took his departure.

CHAPTER II.

A few months later found Ernest again at the chateau, and, as ever, the welcome guest of his aunt.

"I depend upon you, Ernest," said Madame de Breine, "to aid me in doing the honors of the chateau to our distinguished visitors."

"They are here, are they?" responded de Merieux.

"Yes," resumed the countess, "So go and make your toilet, and then join us in the drawing-room. It is now eleven o'clock, and we propose to breakfast at twelve."

"Who are your guests, dear aunt? You know I have just arrived, and am ignorant of all that has transpired."

"Well, I will first name my old and faithful friend, Monsieur de Manuel, then Le Pragy, Lucien d'Erville, the poet, whose verses I admire, and the Countess de Saury, who is somewhat of a blue stocking, although very amiable."

"Who else?" urged Ernest.

"My god-daughter, Louise, Madame d'Aubrelles, a very lovely woman of twenty-six. I have often spoken of you to her. Tell her you do not fail in love with her, my boy, for you will lose your love and trouble."

"Why so?"

"Oh, I had forgotten," continued the countess, laughing merrily. "You are fit for the greatest of impressions, and invulnerable to the smiles of my lovely widow."

"Then she is a widow?"

"Yes, and charming."

"How long has she been such?"

"About two years. Her husband left her a large fortune. He was old enough to be her father."

"You say her name is Louise?" interrupted Ernest.

"Oh, I see," replied the countess. "You already imagine that this lady may be your Louise; but even if she should prove the mysterious traveling companion I should pity you greatly, for I know that my niece is cherishing a romantic attachment. She says nothing, but I have divined her secret. She is sad and preoccupied when I speak of the probability of her marrying again. She never fails to reply 'Never!' and then sighs bitterly."

"Since this is the case, our intercourse will be frank and agreeable. I will not be expected to fall in love with her, nor will she endeavor to impress me. I leave it to you, dear aunt, to inform that lady that my heart is not in my own keeping. Thus we will understand each other at once."

At breakfast Madame de Breine presented her nephew to the assembled guests. On being introduced to Madame d'Aubrelles, Ernest started, for he thought he recognized his cognito. The same grace in every attitude was visible—even her style of dress seemed to recall the stranger.

The first day of his return Ernest was greatly oppressed. He tried to believe he had found the woman he so obstinately loved at one moment. He was tempted to fall at her feet and confess his eternal tenderness, but at the next instant his mind was filled with doubts. He knew not whether to cherish remembrance or pray for oblivion.

One day the party concluded to explore a portion of the estate that was extensive and well wooded. Ernest would have chosen to ride by side, De Merieux having been chosen as her escort. As they proceeded Ernest complained of being very ill and weak.

"Let us dismount and walk; perhaps you may feel better by so doing," said Madame d'Aubrelles. "I am sure that, when a moment ago you caught the bridle to prevent my horse from slipping, you sprained your arm. Am I not right?"

"Yes," responded Ernest, tenderly; "but I wish you to accord me a promise."

"Name it," said the listener, smiling. "That you will not ride without me."

"You wish me to dismount?"

"I do."

"Why? There is less peril when you are beside me?"

"Perhaps not, and yet I crave the promise," added Ernest.

Madame d'Aubrelles realized fully the feeling that prompted both words and action. At this moment they entered a wild, beautiful glade of the wood, and through an open vista an exquisite view was afforded, quite as their feet grew innumerable marguerites.

"See those lovely marguerites!" exclaimed Louise; "they are my favorite flowers. Let me gather the freshest and most beautiful."

"Do you so like the modest marguerite?" inquired Ernest, in a trembling voice.

"Yes, passionately," she responded; "and I never lose an opportunity of gathering a bouquet." Then, as though recoiling something of a painful nature, she added tearfully, "And yet why should I do so, for there is a bouquet of these flowers somewhere, which would embarrass me much were it returned to me to-day."

"Let us each gather some of the flowers, and then consult the oracle to gether," replied Ernest; "but before so doing, let me question these."

As he said these words he drew from his breast a bouquet of withered marguerites. A few of the flowers still retained their leaves, although yellow and dry, and a piece of faded blue ribbon fastened the strings.

"Where did you find that bouquet?" exclaimed his companion. "Can it be mine? Is it possible it was you I saw three years ago, Ernest, and from whom I have since been separated?"

"Yes, separated then, but now reunited," replied Ernest. "And now, Louise," he continued, "there is more to say; but if the dream of my life should be an illusion, say no more. You have read my heart, and can make me the happiest or most miserable of men."

"Be assured, Ernest, I long to believe you were the stranger I met in the diligence."

"You are sure?"

"Yes, for I have also cherished dreams and hopes."

"Not another word, my darling," whispered Ernest, and then he suddenly released her, "not another word now, for here comes Madame Breine's caecole. I see by her smile that my aunt has perceived us; moreover, that she fully realizes that her wish is granted."

"You are here, my children, among the marguerites," said the old countess. "What secrets have the flowers whispered?"

"A love story, dear aunt, responded de Merieux.

"To which both have listened?"

"Yes, both."

"What, then, of your fair love of the diligence, your unknown ideal?"

"Simply that that fair unknown ideal, stands before you," he whispered, pressing Madame d'Aubrelles to his heart.

"Your blushes answer for you, my dear Louise," continued the old lady, and I will only permit my curiosity to ask one question: Were the withered marguerites that now lie nestled upon your breast, dropped by accident, or were they intended as a souvenir?"

"As a souvenir," responded Louise; but so soft in tone that only Ernest caught the sound.

The Morning Newspaper.

When the morning newspaper is spread before us at the breakfast table, we look on the record of the happenings of the night and day before in Europe.

When it is first seen, the paper is the only one of its kind in the neighborhood.—Thomas J. Bowditch, in the Troy Times.

Axes in History.

The axe has quite a history, for in Homer's time iron was much used for woodcutters' axes, etc. The axe was an ancient weapon of war and appears to have been used from the most remote periods in warfare. The war axe varied in form according to the race to which they belonged. The first had a single edge only and was similar to the modern hatchet; the second had two edges and was sometimes called the Amazonian axe, from a supposition that weapons of this kind were used by those female warriors. Axes were much employed as offensive weapons by the Celtic and Scandinavian nations.

Among the Roman armies, the axe was not much used; it was considered the weapon of uncivilized nations. At the siege of the Roman capital by the Gauls, Brennus is represented as being armed with a battle-axe and Ammianus Marcellinus several centuries afterwards, describes an armed body of Gauls as doing all furnished with battle-axes. In the Bayeux tapestry the English are represented by using the battle-axe. The pole-axe was introduced into Britain by the Saxons and was the favorite weapon of the Saxon and the sharp point on the other. The Franks, in their expedition into Italy in the sixth century, made use of an axe with a large blade (much like the present broad-axe). This was termed francion, sympathizing listener in New England.

The battle-axe fell into disuse towards the close of the sixteenth century. In Russia, Sweden and Norway and many parts of Germany they cling to the old, rude, unadorned and unvarnished axe with which they are familiar. The introduction of the American axe in those countries must be a matter of time. The expressions "to bury the hatchet," "to pick up the hatchet," are taken metaphorically from the practice of the North American Indians. In 1840 an English gentleman visited this country and took back an American axe and helve, which from the peculiar shape of the head and handle of the axe proved infinitely superior to the English. His son still has the axe, which is serviceable, though, of course, the handle has been renewed several times, always on the model of the old one. When it was first used by carpenters and woodmen came from a distance of ten miles to inspect it, and many times the owner was offered ten times its price for it—indeed, one enthusiast tried to steal it. Nevertheless, the venerable axe is the only one of its kind in the neighborhood.—Thomas J. Bowditch, in the Troy Times.

The Uncertainty of Politics.

Politics are mighty uncertain, that's a fact. For instance: Years ago, when the writer hereof was in the first year of his military career, he was a "Republican"—commonly called printing—he was given a piece of "copy" to "set up" that nearly made his hair lift itself. It was a "last card" of the political brand. It bristled with exclamations of "Liberty, Liberty, Liberty!" and lines of bold-face capitals, and was surrounded on all sides with "fists," with the fingers of scorn as it were, pointing to the black record in the text. It appeared that a few days before the election, the writer had been discovered by the editor, who had luckily discovered the candidate for Congress on the opposition ticket was more deserving of twenty years solitary confinement in the state prison than two years in Congress. The writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tombstones and panted them for rum, and set fire to his father-in-law's barn, and knocked down and robbed a blind cripple, and had nearly as many more of the same kind of things, and then I heard the editor say something equally disgraceful. When the article exposing his misdeeds appeared in the next issue of the paper, it stood out as prominently as a long blonde hair on the coat collar of a man of respect, and the writer was so angry that he wrote us right, had stolen his grand-father's tomb

SAN FRANCISCO ITEMS.

During two days last week there were 212 new names added to the city register.

One hundred and fifteen marriage licenses were issued by the County Clerk last month.

The City of Tokio, for Japan and China, sailed on the 29th, taking a large number of Chinese.

The Grand Jury has inspected the House of Correction, the Industrial School and the Alms House.

Chief Moses and party were photographed while in the city. They are on their way to Washington.

The records of the Central Pacific Station show that during the month of March the police made 1,668 arrests.

During the past month the Foundrymen captured 333 dogs, killed 307, released 89, others redeemed 21, and $61.80 cash was received.

The new Constitution, in pamphlet form, has been distributed by the Post-office Department as far as possible to all the voters of the city.

During the past week there were thirty-five marriage licenses issued. The average age of the men is 32½ years; average of women, 26½ years.

Chief Moses, Young Chief, and the other chiefs of the Northern tribes, were entertained by Major-General Irwin McDowell at lunch, at Black Point.

The members of the congregation of Dr. Bowles, the Universalist divine, have decided to make such arrangements as would enable them to retain him as their pastor for another year.

Two lawyers engaged in public combat during the session of the Criminal Court last week and in the presence of Judge Fernal, who subsequently fined the assailant $100 and the other $50.

A suit for $10,000 damages is pending against L. Olin and others, who are charged with the death of a little girl who was run over by a team and wagon.

The receipts of the License Collector's office for the first quarter of the fiscal year 1878-79, amounted to $37,237.15, being $2,100.00 in excess of the collections of the first nine months of the fiscal year 1877-78.

On the last of March there were 1,547 prisoners in the State Prison; received during the month by commitment, 56; returned convicts as witnesses, 3—total, 1,565.

A late morning Chronicle contained a letter signed C. O. Smith, who justifies himself for having spoken out in Calvary Church and saying to the president of the church, "The act is justified by some newspapers also."

The rain of last Sunday interfered with the games of several baseball clubs, and prevented the season of the California League from getting started. It did not prevent a large audience at the California Theatre in the evening.

The sixty-second birthday of Father H. P. Gallagher was celebrated by the pupils of St. Joseph's School, in an entertainment consisting of essays, declamations and music. Father Gallagher was presented with a gold-headed cane.

The salaries of employees on the Sutter Street Railroad have been cut down. Dummy-men are now paid $2.50 instead of $3.00; conductors are now paid $1.95 instead of $2.00. The men are required to work from fifteen to seventeen hours.

The case in court of Dr. W. F. Smith, charged with adultery, and which has been exciting so much interest in the criminal department, has come to an end by the failure of the jury to agree on a verdict. Nine votes for guilty—three for acquittal.

The circulation of the Odd Fellows' Library for the month of March was 3,650 volumes, classified as follows: Romance, 5,665; history, 291; periodicals, 214; poetry, 200; biography, 291; travel, 242; science, 257; theology, 97; miscellaneous, 238.

One of the new eleven passenger coaches of the Yosemite Stage and Turnpike Company, to be used this season on the new route to Yosemite, has attracted much attention in the courtyard of the Palace Hotel, where it was placed on exhibition.

Last month the Mint in this city coined 116,000 double eagles and 1,000,000 standard dollars, in all 1,116,000 pieces, of the value of $3,820,000. The coins for the quarter ending March 31st was 287,000 double eagles and 3,000,000 standard dollars, the whole of the value of $8,340,000.

There have been several applicants in this city for participation in the Woodruff expedition around the world, which sails from New York in May. James H. Gamble, 300 Montgomery street, is authorized to register students and tourists from this coast, and will give any information desired in regard to the expedition.

The committee appointed at the meeting of the teachers last week, to take into consideration the proposed reduction in teachers' salaries, has addressed a communication to the Board of Supervisors, in which they announce their willingness to accept a reduction in salaries, provided that such reduction is made equally upon all persons in the service of the city; but they protest against measures of parsimony which will affect them alone.

During the month of March there was a large increase in litigation. Suits commenced numbered 555, as follows: For collection of money, 322; for recovery of mortgages, 28; elements, 9; injunction, 8; divorce, 49; to quiet title, 26; to compel compliance, 10; to dissolve partnership, 7; libel, 1; street assessment, 24; for possession of personal property, 8; delinquent taxes, 2; damages for injuries, 7; miscellaneous, 17. Foreclosure of lien, 1; on forfeited bail bonds, 19.

Superintendent of the House of Correction, has filed his report of the management of that institution during the month of March. The average number of men employed in various capacities has been 127. Prisoners on hand March 31st numbered 1,547. During the month, 93; 604, 98, discharged during the month, 419 in prison April 1st. Total cost, $5,578.97. Of this amount $2,410.21 was expended for salaries and $3,168.76 for salaries.

Last week there was a strike by some two or three hundred laborers on the Sea-wall. The disaffected gang demanded $2 instead of $1.50 per day, and endeavored to intimidate others from taking their places. Police interference was necessary to preserve the peace. The contractor, who is not permitted to employ Chinese labor, claims that many of the applicants are willing to work at the stipulated rate, but that he cannot, and that, having calculated his contract on the basis of the present wages, he cannot consent to a raise without serious loss.

Magee's Real Estate Circular for March contains the following: Real estate was very dull in March. Only 21 sales were made, of the total value of $753,800. Buyers are timid and want things all their own way. Of course sellers will not submit, and therefore sales are scarce. Large buyers of business property are especially out of the market. The most of the sales now being made are of lots of $1,000 to $3,000, and of houses and lots at $2,000 to $3,000. The Mission and Western Addition sales now lead all others; the Western Addition being largely ahead in point of value. Sixteen sales were made last month, value $1,161,718. Six Western Addition sales were recorded, value $775,450. One California-abetted house was sold, value $100,000, with keeping up Western Addition sales.

Not long since an interesting golden wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clement. They were married in the year 1829, and have now living three children, eleven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, all of whom were present, in the full enjoyment of health. Not a death has occurred in the family in all these four generations, and Mr. Clement, who is now 80 years of age, is as lively and energetic as any member of the Board of Education. The teachers of the Broad-way Grammar School contribute a beautiful ox-eye card-receiver, with every stand, another with knobs of California agate, and decorated with gilt and bronzes ornaments. Four hundred teachers present a set of spoons, forks and napkins, of solid gold, the set costing $450.

The following were the receipts of the City Treasury during the month of March: General fund, $22,421.41; cash on hand, February 28th, $1,614,064.67; total, $1,636,486.08. The disbursements from the principal funds during the past month were as follows: General fund, $162,000.00; school fund, $10,250.00; school land, $85,875.97; street fund, $25,631.97; street department, $84,021.97; April 1st, $2,197,949.67; of which $334,869.78 remains to the credit of the General fund, $246.41; Street Light, $72,759.95; Street Department, $144,694.41; Park improvement, $11,611.45; New City Hall, $112,629.14; from sinking fund outstanding, $42,500. There is also in the treasury between $300,000 and $350,000 collected by the Tax Collector last month which has not as yet been appropriated.

NEWS SUMMARY.

Francis A. Walker is Superintendent of Census.

Professor Anderson, the celebrated chess player, is dead.

There has been another assassination in Moscow by nihilists.

President Greys has signed another list of pardons for Communists.

The dispute between Germany and the Vatican is not settled.

In St. Louis a recent fire destroyed property to the value of $450,000.

The czar is expected in Berlin, for the Emperor's golden wedding, in June.

Gen. Grant and party were at Singapore on the 31st inst., and have departed for Siam.

Within two or three days last week three feet of snow fell around North Troy, Vermont.

Subscriptions to the four per cent loan during two days last week, aggregated $4,304,200.

Chin Lan Pin, the Chinese Ambassador, at Washington, has departed to Madrid on a diplomatic mission.

The Pope has sent a circular to the Spanish Bishops, warmly advocating allegiance to the King Alfonso.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued a call for the redemption of $10,000,000 5-30 bonds of the consolidated debt.

It is reported that Gen. Grant and party will be at San Francisco in August next, or sooner, on his return home.

Total colnage of standard silver for March, $5,777,898. Total colnage of standard silver dollars to April 1st, 1878, $23,744,950.

Total colnage at the Mint for March, $5,777,898. Total colnage of standard silver dollars to April 1st, 1878, $23,744,950.

The total value of the State of Rhode Island gives the Republicans 5713; Democrats, 5233; Greenback and starting, 877.

Peru and Bolivia have concluded an offensive and defensive alliance, and both countries have declared war against Chile.

From a quarter of the country come stories of damage by high winds, accompanied in some cases by rain and snow.

The statue of Prince Bismarck was unveiled at Cologne with great ceremony on the 1st, the anniversary of his birth.

General Joseph E. Johnston, a late officer of the Confederate Army, is appointed as one of the Regents of the Smithsonian Institute.

The Pope has written an autograph letter to Queen Victoria, welcoming her to Italy, and expressing good wishes for her welfare.

A contractor has undertaken to repair and raise the dam at Saeged in within thirty-eight days. Rebuilding of the Iowa commences today.

It is reported at St. Louis that nearly three thousand negroes have gone through that city to Kansas from the South since the 1st of March.

Ex-Senator Sargent, who is still in Washington, has definitely determined to forego his ocean cruise, and proceed to California at an early date.

The President's contemplated trip to California has been postponed, on account of the extra session of Congress, which may be very protracted.

One day last week, on Long Island, N. Y., snow-drifts five feet high made the Long Island Railroad impassible until cleared by the snow-plows.

For the first time it is now made public that after the death of Bayard Taylor, the German Mission was visited by Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Tribune.

It is stated that James Gordon Bennett and the rest of the party who are on a special train to San Francisco, June 15th. They will visit Yosemite and other places of interest.

General Walker states that the main body of the Chinese will undertake next February. There will be two or three months' preparation, and the census itself will be taken in a month's time.

On the night of the 24 inst., a heavy frost occurred at Charleston, S. C., which seriously damaged early vegetable crops. The loss to truck farmers around Charleston is estimated at $200,000.

A dispatch from Bucharest, Servia, says: Both Chambers have passed, by large majorities, a resolution to amend the constitution, in order to remove the disabilities of Jews.

In New York City the weather continues unseasonable, the thermometer ranging below the freezing point, with high winds. The Hudson is not yet open, which is unusual; and spring, which it was thought would be early, is delayed backward.

The ship Niobe, which sailed from New York, the other day, for Australia, took nine thousand nine hundred and thirty packages of clocks, and a large assortment of agricultural implements for the Australian Expedition. Another ship is to follow.

The New York Herald has the following: Ex-Senator Sargent will not go to sea, his health is too feeble to permit of it. He is, however, for business purposes, to California, where, on account of his fight for the anti-Chinese bill, he is the favorite for Vice-President on the ticket with Grant.

The American ship Three Brothers is loading at Brooklyn, N. Y. Navy Yard with boilers and machinery for the month of March. She will also take on board more than a thousand tons of anthracite coal for fuel, destined for her destination.

A Washington dispatch says that it is believed there, among well-informed parties from the South, that an effort will be made this summer to remove the disabilities of the ex-slaves.

The exodus of negroes from the South is evidently becoming a serious question. They are flocking by thousands from Louisiana to California, and are being sold by the time they reach St. Louis. Have expended all their means, so that the benevolent have to appeal for aid to the benevolent societies.

A dispatch from Havana says the Italian Government recently received an anonymous letter giving warning that an attempt would be made to assassinate Queen Victoria, by means of the steamship Arcturion. It is believed the sole object of the writer was to embarrass the Government, but every precaution was taken to guard against the danger.

The New York Pacific concludes from the statistics of the foreign wheat market that more than 94,000,000 bushels will be required by Europe from Russia and the United States, while Russia will not furnish more than 50,000,000, unless it had another large crop in 1878, following that of 1877. This would leave about 44,000,000 bushels to be drawn from this country. If these estimates are correct, the price of wheat must advance.

A call has been issued by many colored clergymen, teachers and social directors of the colored people of Louisiana for a Convention to meet in New Orleans, on April 17th, to consider the condition of their race in Louisiana. They say: "We regard with grave apprehension the wrongs and outrages from which so many of our people suffer today, and the terms which have influenced them to a general exodus from North Louisiana and the turbulent parishes in the State."

A dispatch from Cairo, Egypt, says that the report of the English Commission sent by Rivers White to inquire into the famine in upper Egypt, shows from statistics, that 100,000 persons died by starvation alone in Girgeh, Beni and Zena. The famine, which was really a money famine caused by over-taxation, has now terminated, but has left serious consequences. If it had not been for the Nile which caused a famine worse than the last.

Governor Howard, of Dakota, who is now in New York City, says that immigration to the region around Yankton and to the country along the Northern Pacific Railroad, has been enormous during the past year. Said the Governor to a reporter: "I believe that our population has been increased fully 50,000. People in the East are beginning to find out that we have the wheat land and the sun and we have upon it." The Governor thinks the Territory has 115,000 people, enough to make a State, but they do not want to be admitted into the Union yet. We are said, just finding out where the wheat region of the continent is. Before many years one-half of all the wheat grown in America will be produced north of the forty-third parallel.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET.

FLOUR—Exports for March were 47,787 barrels valued at $1,243 for February and $1,288 for January. Since July 1st, 1878, our exports have been 386,000 barrels, a sum only exceeded in 1877, when we shipped 438,000 barrels. The China steamer of Saturday carried a large cargo which added to exports elsewhere made nearly 25,000 for the week. Receipts are liberal, the market well supplied and easy with a moderate demand.

We quote, Superfine comb, $3.50; 40's, $3.40; 42's, $3.30; 44's, $3.20; 46's, $3.10; 48's, $3.00; 50's, $2.90; 52's, $2.80; 54's, $2.70; 56's, $2.60; 58's, $2.50; 60's, $2.40; 62's, $2.30; 64's, $2.20; 66's, $2.10; 68's, $2.00; 70's, $1.90; 72's, $1.80; 74's, $1.70; 76's, $1.60; 78's, $1.50; 80's, $1.40; 82's, $1.30; 84's, $1.20; 86's, $1.10; 88's, $1.00; 90's, $0.90; 92's, $0.80; 94's, $0.70; 96's, $0.60; 98's, $0.50; 100's, $0.40.

WHEAT—A reaction for the worse in Liverpool caused exporters to hold off at the opening of the week. Miller's and shipper's needs were light, and holders were forced to lower their prices before sales could be effected. This slowness ruled all the week, even at the decline, and we have a very quiet market. Freight rates are as before reported, and owners show no disposition to hurry. New cargoes are not coming in, and we act with a degree of confidence until the end of the surplus in our western States comes in sight. The prospect for the local demand is good, and powere better than in our own State. From present appearance we can hardly look for any better prices next year than have ruled this year. There are not wanting men who predict even a lower level of values.

We quote superfine, $1.50; 40's, $1.40; 42's, $1.30; 44's, $1.20; 46's, $1.10; 48's, $1.00; 50's, $0.90; 52's, $0.80; 54's, $0.70; 56's, $0.60; 58's, $0.50; 60's, $0.40; 62's, $0.30; 64's, $0.20; 66's, $0.10; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

CORN—The market is feverish and spasmodic. Now up, now down. The supply is not large, but the demand is small.

We quote yellow, 30's, $1.00; white, $1.00; 32's, $0.90; 34's, $0.80; 36's, $0.70; 38's, $0.60; 40's, $0.50; 42's, $0.40; 44's, $0.30; 46's, $0.20; 48's, $0.10; 50's, $0.00; 52's, $0.00; 54's, $0.00; 56's, $0.00; 58's, $0.00; 60's, $0.00; 62's, $0.00; 64's, $0.00; 66's, $0.00; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

OATS—There has been a light inquiry for export to Honolulu. The local demand is small, and prices merely steady; milling is more or less nominal.

We quote yellow, $1.00; 40's, $0.90; good to choice feed, $1.25; 50's, $1.00; common to good feed, $1.00; 60's, $0.90; 70's, $0.80; 80's, $0.70; 90's, $0.60; 100's, $0.50.

RYE—The supply is larger than the demand, and the market weak. We now quote $0.80.

BUCKWHEAT—We quote nominally as before. For all grades quote $1.30; 40's, $1.20; 50's, $1.10; 60's, $1.00; 70's, $0.90; 80's, $0.80; 90's, $0.70; 100's, $0.60.

MILN-TUFFS—Supplies are larger than requirements. The market is dull and weak. Perhaps nothing would bring outside rates excepting jobbing. For all grades quote $1.00; 40's, $0.90; 50's, $0.80; 60's, $0.70; 70's, $0.60; 80's, $0.50; 90's, $0.40; 100's, $0.30.

CORN—The market is feverish and spasmodic. Now up, now down. The supply is not large, but the demand is small.

We quote yellow, 30's, $1.00; white, $1.00; 32's, $0.90; 34's, $0.80; 36's, $0.70; 38's, $0.60; 40's, $0.50; 42's, $0.40; 44's, $0.30; 46's, $0.20; 48's, $0.10; 50's, $0.00; 52's, $0.00; 54's, $0.00; 56's, $0.00; 58's, $0.00; 60's, $0.00; 62's, $0.00; 64's, $0.00; 66's, $0.00; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

WHEAT—A reaction for the worse in Liverpool caused exporters to hold off at the opening of the week. Miller's and shipper's needs were light, and holders were forced to lower their prices before sales could be effected. This slowness ruled all the week, even at the decline, and we have a very quiet market. Freight rates are as before reported, and owners show no disposition to hurry. New cargoes are not coming in, and we act with a degree of confidence until the end of the surplus in our western States comes in sight. The prospect for the local demand is good, and powere better than in our own State. From present appearance we can hardly look for any better prices next year than have ruled this year. There are not wanting men who predict even a lower level of values.

We quote superfine, $1.50; 40's, $1.40; 42's, $1.30; 44's, $1.20; 46's, $1.10; 48's, $1.00; 50's, $0.90; 52's, $0.80; 54's, $0.70; 56's, $0.60; 58's, $0.50; 60's, $0.40; 62's, $0.30; 64's, $0.20; 66's, $0.10; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

CORN—The market is feverish and spasmodic. Now up, now down. The supply is not large, but the demand is small.

We quote yellow, 30's, $1.00; white, $1.00; 32's, $0.90; 34's, $0.80; 36's, $0.70; 38's, $0.60; 40's, $0.50; 42's, $0.40; 44's, $0.30; 46's, $0.20; 48's, $0.10; 50's, $0.00; 52's, $0.00; 54's, $0.00; 56's, $0.00; 58's, $0.00; 60's, $0.00; 62's, $0.00; 64's, $0.00; 66's, $0.00; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

OATS—There has been a light inquiry for export to Honolulu. The local demand is small, and prices merely steady; milling is more or less nominal.

We quote yellow, $1.00; 40's, $0.90; good to choice feed, $1.25; 50's, $1.00; common to good feed, $1.00; 60's, $0.90; 70's, $0.80; 80's, $0.70; 90's, $0.60; 100's, $0.50.

BUCKWHEAT—We quote nominally as before. For all grades quote $1.30; 40's, $1.20; 50's, $1.10; 60's, $1.00; 70's, $0.90; 80's, $0.80; 90's, $0.70; 100's, $0.60.

MILN-TUFFS—Supplies are larger than requirements. The market is dull and weak. Perhaps nothing would bring outside rates excepting jobbing. For all grades quote $1.00; 40's, $0.90; 50's, $0.80; 60's, $0.70; 70's, $0.60; 80's, $0.50; 90's, $0.40; 100's, $0.30.

CORN—The market is feverish and spasmodic. Now up, now down. The supply is not large, but the demand is small.

We quote yellow, 30's, $1.00; white, $1.00; 32's, $0.90; 34's, $0.80; 36's, $0.70; 38's, $0.60; 40's, $0.50; 42's, $0.40; 44's, $0.30; 46's, $0.20; 48's, $0.10; 50's, $0.00; 52's, $0.00; 54's, $0.00; 56's, $0.00; 58's, $0.00; 60's, $0.00; 62's, $0.00; 64's, $0.00; 66's, $0.00; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

WHEAT—A reaction for the worse in Liverpool caused exporters to hold off at the opening of the week. Miller's and shipper's needs were light, and holders were forced to lower their prices before sales could be effected. This slowness ruled all the week, even at the decline, and we have a very quiet market. Freight rates are as before reported, and owners show no disposition to hurry. New cargoes are not coming in, and we act with a degree of confidence until the end of the surplus in our western States comes in sight. The prospect for the local demand is good, and powere better than in our own State. From present appearance we can hardly look for any better prices next year than have ruled this year. There are not wanting men who predict even a lower level of values.

We quote superfine, $1.50; 40's, $1.40; 42's, $1.30; 44's, $1.20; 46's, $1.10; 48's, $1.00; 50's, $0.90; 52's, $0.80; 54's, $0.70; 56's, $0.60; 58's, $0.50; 60's, $0.40; 62's, $0.30; 64's, $0.20; 66's, $0.10; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

CORN—The market is feverish and spasmodic. Now up, now down. The supply is not large, but the demand is small.

We quote yellow, 30's, $1.00; white, $1.00; 32's, $0.90; 34's, $0.80; 36's, $0.70; 38's, $0.60; 40's, $0.50; 42's, $0.40; 44's, $0.30; 46's, $0.20; 48's, $0.10; 50's, $0.00; 52's, $0.00; 54's, $0.00; 56's, $0.00; 58's, $0.00; 60's, $0.00; 62's, $0.00; 64's, $0.00; 66's, $0.00; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

OATS—There has been a light inquiry for export to Honolulu. The local demand is small, and prices merely steady; milling is more or less nominal.

We quote yellow, $1.00; 40's, $0.90; good to choice feed, $1.25; 50's, $1.00; common to good feed, $1.00; 60's, $0.90; 70's, $0.80; 80's, $0.70; 90's, $0.60; 100's, $0.50.

BUCKWHEAT—We quote nominally as before. For all grades quote $1.30; 40's, $1.20; 50's, $1.10; 60's, $1.00; 70's, $0.90; 80's, $0.80; 90's, $0.70; 100's, $0.60.

MILN-TUFFS—Supplies are larger than requirements. The market is dull and weak. Perhaps nothing would bring outside rates excepting jobbing. For all grades quote $1.00; 40's, $0.90; 50's, $0.80; 60's, $0.70; 70's, $0.60; 80's, $0.50; 90's, $0.40; 100's, $0.30.

CORN—The market is feverish and spasmodic. Now up, now down. The supply is not large, but the demand is small.

We quote yellow, 30's, $1.00; white, $1.00; 32's, $0.90; 34's, $0.80; 36's, $0.70; 38's, $0.60; 40's, $0.50; 42's, $0.40; 44's, $0.30; 46's, $0.20; 48's, $0.10; 50's, $0.00; 52's, $0.00; 54's, $0.00; 56's, $0.00; 58's, $0.00; 60's, $0.00; 62's, $0.00; 64's, $0.00; 66's, $0.00; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

WHEAT—A reaction for the worse in Liverpool caused exporters to hold off at the opening of the week. Miller's and shipper's needs were light, and holders were forced to lower their prices before sales could be effected. This slowness ruled all the week, even at the decline, and we have a very quiet market. Freight rates are as before reported, and owners show no disposition to hurry. New cargoes are not coming in, and we act with a degree of confidence until the end of the surplus in our western States comes in sight. The prospect for the local demand is good, and powere better than in our own State. From present appearance we can hardly look for any better prices next year than have ruled this year. There are not wanting men who predict even a lower level of values.

We quote superfine, $1.50; 40's, $1.40; 42's, $1.30; 44's, $1.20; 46's, $1.10; 48's, $1.00; 50's, $0.90; 52's, $0.80; 54's, $0.70; 56's, $0.60; 58's, $0.50; 60's, $0.40; 62's, $0.30; 64's, $0.20; 66's, $0.10; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

CORN—The market is feverish and spasmodic. Now up, now down. The supply is not large, but the demand is small.

We quote yellow, 30's, $1.00; white, $1.00; 32's, $0.90; 34's, $0.80; 36's, $0.70; 38's, $0.60; 40's, $0.50; 42's, $0.40; 44's, $0.30; 46's, $0.20; 48's, $0.10; 50's, $0.00; 52's, $0.00; 54's, $0.00; 56's, $0.00; 58's, $0.00; 60's, $0.00; 62's, $0.00; 64's, $0.00; 66's, $0.00; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00; 100's, $0.00.

OATS—There has been a light inquiry for export to Honolulu. The local demand is small, and prices merely steady; milling is more or less nominal.

We quote yellow, $1.00; 40's, $0.90; good to choice feed, $1.25; 50's, $1.00; common to good feed, $1.00; 60's, $0.90; 70's, $0.80; 80's, $0.70; 90's, $0.60; 100's, $0.50.

BUCKWHEAT—We quote nominally as before. For all grades quote $1.30; 40's, $1.20; 50's, $1.10; 60's, $1.00; 70's, $0.90; 80's, $0.80; 90's, $0.70; 100's, $0.60.

MILN-TUFFS—Supplies are larger than requirements. The market is dull and weak. Perhaps nothing would bring outside rates excepting jobbing. For all grades quote $1.00; 40's, $0.90; 50's, $0.80; 60's, $0.70; 70's, $0.60; 80's, $0.50; 90's, $0.40; 100's, $0.30.

CORN—The market is feverish and spasmodic. Now up, now down. The supply is not large, but the demand is small.

We quote yellow, 30's, $1.00; white, $1.00; 32's, $0.90; 34's, $0.80; 36's, $0.70; 38's, $0.60; 40's, $0.50; 42's, $0.40; 44's, $0.30; 46's, $0.20; 48's, $0.10; 50's, $0.00; 52's, $0.00; 54's, $0.00; 56's, $0.00; 58's, $0.00; 60's, $0.00; 62's, $0.00; 64's, $0.00; 66's, $0.00; 68's, $0.00; 70's, $0.00; 72's, $0.00; 74's, $0.00; 76's, $0.00; 78's, $0.00; 80's, $0.00; 82's, $0.00; 84's, $0.00; 86's, $0.00; 88's, $0.00; 90's, $0.00; 92's, $0.00; 94's, $0.00; 96's, $0.00; 98's, $0.00;

The Yolo Democrat.

WOODLAND, YOLO CO., CAL.

THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1920.

The Swallows.

The autumn wind begins to sigh,
The crimson leaves grow pale,
And swiftly from the clear, cold sky,
Whole flocks of swallows sail.
They seek in islands far away
A warmer clime than ours,
Where larks and thrushes play
In mingled fruit and flowers.
The drooping leaves shall wholly die,
The trumpet and the rain,
And drifting snow shall fill the sky,
Before they come again.
And when, once more, in your hands,
They clasp spring's balmy air,
I wonder from those sunny lands
What memories they bear?
Oh, happy birds! That land is fair,
Yet still for home ye yearn;
And so ye will not linger there,
But every year return.
And thus 'tis with the human mind,
Through brighter scenes we roam,
But, woe it is, we find,
The heart still clings to home.

Bread Upon the Waters.

BY MRS. EMERY.

It was a cold, raw December night the city streets were nearly deserted, as few that had a home or shelter cared to be out in the biting blast. The bells were ringing for nine o'clock when a little girl ran rapidly down one of the business streets. Soon she came to a house she needed seeking for, and mounding the high stone steps, gave the bell a pull. A servant opened the door, and the child asked for Dr. Fletcher. He showed her into the office where a gentleman was seated reading the evening paper. Said the servant, "When will Dr. Fletcher be in, sir?" "Not for some hours, I am afraid. Is any one in need of him?" "Oh, yes, sir. My little girl, who is dying, Oh, I want the doctor so bad!" "Will I do, my little girl? I am here in Dr. Fletcher's place." "Oh, yes, sir. Please come quick. He is all alone." They were soon on their way to her father, going in the direction of the depot. Very soon they stopped before a very respectable-looking tenement house on L—street. They entered without ringing, passed up two flights of stairs, and were quickly in the presence of the invalid. He was breathing heavily, and had the appearance of a man about to close his earthly career. The little girl approached him. "Papa, I have brought the doctor," she said, faintly. "This is not Dr. Fletcher." "No," said the other, "I am Dr. Stanley, his friend and assistant." "It is my child I am troubled about. No doctor can do anything for me. I am almost through with the things of this world." "I will do anything I can for your child. I have wealth and she shall be provided for. Accept the assurance from one who has never yet broken a promise." The child grasped his hand and murmured softly, "Thank you." "God send you consolation in your dying hour as you have consoled mine!" He then asked his daughter to bring a cushion she would find in her trunk, and bade her kneel beside him until she attained her eighteenth birthday, or was engaged to the man of her choice. Then she was to open it and read what it contained. Mr. Lemoine, the dying man, then tried to tell the doctor how he became so poor and desolate; but his strength failed; he could only tell him he was a stranger, a drawing master by profession, and of his great anxiety for the future of his child. He called her to him, blessed her again, and putting her little brown hand in that of the doctor, said, "Take care of her, and as you deal with her so may God deal with you." He soon fell asleep, his breathing becoming more and more feeble; he never spoke again, but passed away calmly, without a struggle. Little Lucine drew near the doctor and whispered, "Papa is asleep." "Yes, my dear, your papa is happy; he has returned to God. All his sickness and sorrows are left behind." When she found her father was dead, poor child, she threw herself beside him in frantic grief. The doctor let her have her cry out, then he carried her to the landlady. She seemed kind and motherly, and the doctor confided his charge to her care until after the funeral. He then ordered a soothing draught for the little girl and left her. Dr. Stanley was a man of generous impulses, and did the good he could in a quiet way. He had impulsively promised Mr. Lemoine to take care of his child, never thinking how it could be done. At first he hardly knew how he should discharge the duty, having no wife or mother to look to for aid. "Ah—I have it! I will send her to school for the next six or seven years; by that time I shall probably have a home and wife." In a few days the doctor engaged a competent person to procure a suitable outfit for his ward, and the first of the new year she commenced her studies at a first-class school in the country. He accompanied her there, and requested the principal to treat her tenderly. He thought of going to Europe the next summer, but he would see his ward again before he left America. Lucine passed from him with real sorrow. He gained her promise to let him know from time to time if she was happy, and always to regard him as her best friend. He felt sad at bidding her good-by—the little creature had really crept into his heart. She sorrowed for a time, but resolved to prove by the instruction given, so that her best friend would not be disappointed in her capabilities. Seven years passed away, and our little Lucine had grown into a beautiful and talented young lady. In six months she would be eighteen. She was a general favorite with her teachers and schoolmates, and still cherished a deep regard and reverence for her absent guardian. Sometimes she feared he had ceased to care for her, and in one of her letters she spoke regretfully of his long absence. His answer was to expect him in the next steamer. In the meantime he had sent orders to his man of business to get his house ready for occupancy at a given time. He had also written to his aunt, Miss Willis, to be in readiness to commence housekeeping with him on his return, as he was going to bring his ward home to live. The doctor came home at the time specified, and was delighted to meet his ward. Immediately after her guardian's return, Lucine went to her future home, and Miss Willis was delighted with the beautiful girl. A suitable wardrobe was provided for her, and a series of balls and parties was inaugurated. For three months there was rarely an evening that she was not invited out or received at home. The opera and theatre demanded their share of patronage, and Lucine was always surrounded by a group of men many of whom were men of talent and culture. She often thought of the fairy story of Cinderella, and imagined herself awakening in the unoccupied room in the tenement house on L—street. It gave the doctor great pleasure to witness the admiration of the crowd for his ward. But a time came when jealousy was awakened; he, too, soon learned the lesson he had escaped from in his journeying over the world. It is an old saying that we are never too old to love. If he comes not in our youth it will come with redoubled strength in our maturity. The human heart craves love, and will not be cheated. Thus it was with our hero. He had traveled seven years, mixing with all phases of society, yet had never known love, never having seen a woman he wished to call wife. Now he was madly in love with a child he had rescued from a life of poverty and toil! He was a patient man, yet he needed all his patience at this time. He often called upon to intercede with Lucine for one or another of her admirers. Once he told her that she must select one and let the others go, as he was tired of playing the part of mediator. She laughed lightly and said, "Do, guard, dismiss them all. I am tired myself, and would rather stay quietly at home, and bid good-by to society." "My dear Lucine, deal frankly with your true friend, and tell me candidly, are you not in love with any of those young fellows?" "No, dear guard, with none of these young fellows!" "You love any one?" "Tell me, dear, because I am going away again, and if I have to lose you I would rather see you settled safely before I go." "Oh, guard, what shall I do without you? I shall not wish to live!" "You have not answered my question, Lucine. Do you love any one?" "If I must speak I will, and proclaim my own weakness. Yes, I do love one who cares nothing for me. Now, guard, I hope you will be satisfied." "Saying that is no case, and a passion of tears. He gathered her to his heart and soothed her as he had done seven years before; but with a different feeling. He could scarcely restrain his own tears, man as he was, at the wreck of his hope. "Oh, my darling, how gladly would I give my heart's best blood to purchase your life's happiness! We are both broken-hearted. You love one, you say, who does not return your affection. This is my case, and I am a wreck." She nestled closer to him and spoke through her tears. "Oh, guard, no woman could know you and not love you—you, so good, generous and true!" "Little one, you could only love me a little—just a little!" "Oh, guard, don't you see that I love you better than all the world beside? I should die if you died! I could not live if you were gone!" "My own darling!" he cried in rapture, pressing her close to his throbbing heart. "Then you will be my wife?" "Yes," was the soft-spoken answer. The doctor soon reminded Lucine of her father's request to open the little casket when she became engaged to the man of her choice. "I will do so before I sleep," said Lucine. Doctor Stanley was a happy man that evening. He had distanced all his rivals. On retiring that night to her chamber, Lucine remembered the casket. She had kept it securely locked in her trunk ever since her father's death. She brought it reverently to the light, and with trembling hands unlocked it. It was a small ebony box, inlaid with pearl, and had been a jewel-case. In one of the compartments were several rings, a set of pearls, a few jet ornaments, and a chain and ornaments of coral that were marked "Lucine." There was nothing very expensive, but every article was precious in her eyes, as belonging to her mother. There was a small picture painted on ivory of a lady in a yellow dress, the knew well she resembled. She shed many tears over this precious memento of that dear young mother that she trusted now to her guardian angel. Thus she was to think of her. A letter next morning brought attention to her by her father on the near approach of death. It contained a history of his marriage, and revealed the fact that Lucine had influential friends in Germany. The wedding soon took place, and no handsomer bride ever graced a church than Lucine. The newly-married couple went to Germany, and visited the home to all who came under their influence. The Detroit Free Press speaks of the following influence which Lucine had upon her people, and writes the fact that the French use electricity for that purpose in new distillations. We know nothing of this theory, but from samples frequently exhibited in our streets, have little doubt that Lucine has a very strong influence upon those who doubtly imbibed it. Norfolk (Va.) Ledger. "Procrastination is the thief of time."—Young's Night Thoughts. Procrastination was arrested and found in his pocket, whereupon he was fined ten dollars and costs, and looked up at the clock look-up over night. The next morning he couldn't raise the wind, and a bear-eyed justice sent him down for thirty days. There is not a stream of trouble so deep and swift-running that we may not cross safely over it if we have the courage to steer and strength to pull. We have heard our ear ring.

The Thin Man from Dayton.

Yesterday morning, soon after the eating stands in the Central Market had been thrown open to the market of the hungry public, and while Mr. Magruder was telling a small boy that she could hold up her hand and swear that she never used beans in her office, a stranger came along and asked if he could have a bite of her bean. Mr. Magruder has been on the market for many years, and she thinks she knows a thing or two. She has flattered herself that she could tell a bite just how much a customer could eat, and she has for years had an undisputed contempt for thin-bodied, spare-faced men who try to chew their coffee and mince their toast. This stranger was a little better than a six-foot shadow. His forehead was a shining disc of a chocolate color, as big as a mince-pie, and the perspective revealed nothing but two hollow eyes set below a thin line of sandy eyebrows. He remarked that he had just arrived from Dayton, and was looking for a hungry man to eat with. He inquired how much his breakfast would cost him, as he was rather short of funds. "Oh! I suppose you may be able to worry down six or seven cents' worth of provisions and a cup of coffee, she replied. "Suppose you say twenty-five cents for all I want to eat?" he said, as the corners of his eyes began to twitch. Mrs. Magruder looked him over and made just thirteen cents by the bargain, and she replied: "I must have my money in advance, you know." "Oh, certainly—here it is. Now, then, I'm to eat my fill for the quarter?" She said that was the understanding, and winked at the next stall. The thin man from Dayton doubled up on a stool, hungry for his bean, and a fried sausage went out of sight so quickly that the last end seemed to smoke. A fried cake followed, then a second sausage, and after a gulp or two the man handed out his cup with the words: "That tastes like real coffee—gimme some more." While she was filling the cup he got away with two hot biscuits and a slice of beef, and the coffee came just in time to wash down the bean and mince pie. He could use both arms and his mouth at once, and he attended strictly to business. When Mrs. Magruder had filled the third cup her stout, hungry man, who had been waiting for the last end of the bean, took it and resorted to strategy, and she began asking questions. The man answered none of them except by a mournful shake of the head. Crash! he went down on his hands and knees, and from the shoulder like clock work Mrs. Magruder called his attention to a dog fight across the way, but he ate faster than ever. The bell struck 9 and she remarked that a big conflagration was raging at the Union depot, but the man did not raise his eyes. When Mrs. Magruder discovered that she was at least six shillings behind she said that she was a "poor widow" with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then Mrs. Magruder told a story about a man who had been killed by a train, and she said that she was a widow with five children to support. "How do I get you?" replied the man as he passed his cup with one hand and raked in a biscuit with the other. Then

The Yolo Democrat

Thursday, April 17th, 1879.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]
Increasing Prospects of a Protracted Session—The Top of Debate to Begin To-day—An Oratorical Campaign of Thirty Days Duration Planned in the Senate—Gen. Garfield's Great Speech—The Movement to Oust Kellogg—A Majority Report Against Bell.

WASHINGTON, April 11, 1879.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:—It is now generally believed that the extra session will be protracted far into the summer, and there is no doubt that it will be full of interest and at times exciting. To-day the real tug of debate will begin, both parties being prepared with magazines of ammunition in the way of cut and dried speeches. A Columbia of in-activative will roar, petards of rhetoric will hoist the individual Congressman, who will, however, always fall on his feet and return the compliment. Personal engagements will give piquancy and variety to the great onslaught, while the battle will rage beautifully all along the line. The forces are so evenly divided that it will hardly be known when the roll is called on resolutions, amendments and bills, which side will have the victory. The Democratic majority is small, and the physical disability of some of its members, as Messrs. Stephens, McKim and Lay, makes their strength an unknown and very interesting quantity. It may be in the power of the Republicans, by filibustering, to postpone indefinitely, or even to prevent the passage of the bills with the various amendments. It is conceded that not less than a month will suffice for the Senate to say its say on the proposed measures; all the prominent leaders on both sides are preparing speeches, and at least thirty are booked on the speaker's list to be heard. Gen. Garfield said he did not propose to argue on the merits or demerits of the Democratic position, but that his party saw signs of a new rebellion in an attempt to engraft political legislation on appropriations, and as in 1861, the Republicans would meet the insipient rebellion in united phalanx! The speech created a decided sensation on both sides of the House. At its conclusion nearly all the Republicans came and shook hands with him, indicating their approval of his words and his stand. Gen. Chalmers, of Mississippi, has the floor to-day for the first speech on the Democratic side. He will rally to the speech of Gen. Garfield. The general understanding is that the House will go on with the debate on the Army bill to-day and continue it until finally disposed of. It is not improbable, however, that other questions may be brought up that will consume a good deal of the session. The several resolutions that have been offered, looking to a change of rules, may be brought up to-day for action. The members who offered them are desirous of getting them before the Committee on Rules, and in this they are largely supported. The proposition to divide the work of preparing the Appropriation bills among the various Committees of the House, has many friends in both parties. The resolution introduced by Mr. Cox, of New York, authorizing the appointment, at once, of select committees on the oceans, on the revision of the mode of electing President and Vice-President, on epidemic diseases, and on ventilation, will be reported favorably to-day before the Committee on Rules. At a meeting of this Committee, held yesterday, this resolution of Mr. Cox was agreed to, and it was also agreed to increase the Committee.

This week the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections will begin an examination of the charges made against William Pitt Kellogg by Judge Spafford, of Louisiana. The majority report on the claim of Charles H. Bell, to be admitted as a Senator from New Hampshire by appointment by the Governor, will be made. The majority report in Bell's case is against his title, on the ground of lack of jurisdiction in the premises, by the appointing power of the State. Kellogg is aware that an attempt will be made to unseat him, and will resist the attack by charging fraud against his opponent. There seems to be no definite knowledge as to what the final position of the President will be with regard to the Appropriation bills with their amendments. It is said that he has assured the Republican leaders that if they will obstinately and unanimously resist the proposed legislation in the two Houses he will veto the bill when it comes to him. On the other hand, it is reported that both Schurz and Everett, who have more influence with him than Sherman, Thompson and McCree, are urging him to sign the bill.

Editorial Comments.

WINTERS, April 9th, 1879.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:—The surface of the soil is being moved by the farmers' plow shares as spring time has once more set in, sending a gleam of warm sunshine over the cheerful country. We are behind one month with our usual work, so no time is to be lost. With the exception of one son of the Flower Kingdom, every "pig-tail" was ousted from this town last season, the citizens making up enough money to buy their sons from the owners; but oh! how things have changed. There are more moon-eyed heathens in town now than ever before.

Sentiments are greatly divided on the Constitution question. A great many farmers will vote against any change. Nearly every school teacher I have heard expresses an unfavorable opinion, besides a large portion of the professional men.

A man by the name of York is giving a series of lectures on Constitutionalism, Spiritualism, and Woman Suffrage. He reminds one of a school boy who has just learned his piece. It was a romantic thing to notice married men ride twenty miles and volunteer their evidence in the Overhaas-Haskins scandal. Our women charge the married men with a secret league, and accuse the District Attorney of belonging to it.

The appearance of the Advocate has greatly changed for the better. A short time previous to the sale of this paper we understood Geo. W. Scott intended to buy the concern with "Bill Dadd" and "Rebecca" as editors; but on the day of the sale Scott hearing of a quarter-section of land for sale over the way, forgot all about the newspaper business until the next day. "Bill Dadd" went back to chopping store wood, while "Rebecca" may continue to write advertisements for the stores and hotels in the Advocate.

Dr. Bell has purchased Thomas Keefe's drug store. Mr. Keefe returns to San Francisco to finish the study of medicine. OLAND.

Kentucky Prince!

This celebrated Jack can be found during the season of 1879 at the Ranch of his owner, seven and one-half miles south-west of Woodland, from March 10th and onward.

DESCRIPTION.—KENTUCKY PRINCE is five years old this spring. He stands 15 hands high, with good bones and fine style. He has taken the premium in many well contested trials.

PEDIGREE.—KENTUCKY PRINCE is a Black Jack; was sired by Great Kentuckian, he by Superior Mammoth, he by Smoky Mammoth, he by Imported Mammoth. First Dam by Jim Porter, he by Levathan, he by Imported Mammoth. Second Dam by Imported Zorah—a Maltese Jack. Third dam by Rail-fox, imported. Fourth Dam by Henry Clay, imported. Royalist. KENTUCKY PRINCE is a good breeder. (Signed) R. B. GENTRY.

COUNTY CLERK'S CERTIFICATE.

Sworn and subscribed before me by R. B. Gentry, and I certify that said Gentry's reputation for truth and veracity is good in the community where he lives. Given under hand and seal of office this 4th day of September, 1878.

Attest: REED S. NICHOLS, Clerk Yolo County Court, Kentucky.

March 10, 1879. J. W. CHILES, Prop'r.

H. P. MARTIN, E. J. ROGERS, Woodland, Napa.

Marble Works

Artificial Stone Manufactory.

LEATHER'S PATENT Artificial Stone

For Sidewalks, Hatching Posts, HORSE BLOCKS, ORNAMENTAL FENCES, Vaults, Coping for Family Graves, etc., sold or made to order. Also all kinds of Marble Work done to order. Please give us a call and have your work done at home.

H. P. MARTIN, Prop'r.

P. O. Box, 141, WOODLAND, CAL.

J. SOVEREIGN, WAGON AND CARRIAGE MAKER.

Blacksmith and General Repairer.

Horseshoeing a Specialty!

Agent for the American Chief Gang Plow.

NEW SHOP ON FIRST STREET, OPPOSITE WOODLAND BAKERY.

apwsm

Notice of Application for Ferry Franchise.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN, NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned, GEORGE PETERS, on the Nineteenth day of May, 1879, at 10 o'clock A.M., will make an application to the Board of Supervisors of Sacramento County State of California at the office of said Board in the City of Sacramento for authority to erect and take toll on a cable ferry to be run and maintained across the Sacramento River at the farm known as GEORGE PETERS' RANCH and at a point opposite the house of said GEORGE PETERS, which is situated on the left bank of said river about six miles below the City of Sacramento in said county.

Witness my hand this 1st day of April, 1879.

GEORGE PETERS.

County Treasurer's Notice.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, THAT there are funds in the Treasury to redeem all Warrants registered as follows:

ON THE GENERAL FUND, Prior to August 1st, 1878.

ON THE HOSPITAL FUND, Prior to May 14th, 1878, and Warrant No. 411, registered May 14th, 1878.

ON THE CONTINGENT FUND, Prior to May 17th, 1878.

WOODLAND, April 10th, 1879.

A. C. KEAN, Treasurer Yolo County.

Summons.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE SIXTH Judicial District, State of California, County of Yolo.

FRANCIS HUNT, Plaintiff, vs. HENRY C. HUNT, Defendant.

The People of the State of California send notice to HENRY C. HUNT: You are hereby summoned to appear and answer the complaint of FRANCIS HUNT, said Court filed against you, within ten days from the service of this writ, exclusive of the day of service, (served on you in this county, if served out of this county, but within this Judicial District, within twenty days; but if served on you without said District, then in forty days from said service, exclusive of the day of service, in an action commenced on the 12th day of March, 1879, in said Court.

Said action is brought to obtain a decree of this Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between the said Plaintiff and the defendant, upon the ground of desertion of the said Plaintiff by the said Defendant, and for the care, custody and control of their minor child; and you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer the complaint as directed, plaintiff will take default judgment for the relief demanded in Plaintiff's complaint.

In testimony whereof, I, D. M. BURNS, Clerk of the Sixth Judicial District Court aforesaid, do hereby set my hand and seal at the Seat of said Court, at Woodland, this 12th day of March, A.D. 1879.

By IGNACIO BROWN, Deputy, J. C. BALL, Attorney for Plaintiff. (mb2w2m)

Notice to Creditors.

Estate of Luke Rogers, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN BY THE undersigned, Administrator of the Estate of LUKE ROGERS, deceased, to the creditors of said estate, persons having claims against said deceased, to exhibit them with the necessary vouchers, within ten months after the first publication of this notice, to the said Administrator, at the law office of J. C. BALL, Attorney, in said County of Yolo, State of California.

J. C. BALL, Attorney. March 19th, 1879. (mb2w2m)

Assignee's Notice to Creditors.

J. A. ABBAY vs. HIS CREDITORS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN BY THE undersigned Assignee of the estate of J. A. ABBAY, Assignor, to the Creditors of said estate and all persons having claims against said estate and Assignor, to present them with the necessary vouchers, within three months after the first publication of this Notice, to the undersigned, at their residences near Winters in Yolo County, California.

Dated Winters, Yolo County, Cal., Feb. 12th 1879. WILLIAM SIMS and J. G. ALLEN, Assignees

Notice to Creditors.

Estate of Harriet Sophia Loranger, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN TO THE creditors of said estate, persons having claims against the estate of HARRIET SOPHIA LORANGER, deceased, to exhibit them with the necessary vouchers, within four months after the first publication of this notice, to the undersigned, Administrator of said Estate, at the office of SAMUEL HILLAND, Attorney-at-Law, Woodland, Yolo County, California.

Dated, Woodland, Cal., March 27th, 1879. S. H. LORANGER, Administrator. (mb2w2m)

Administrator's Notice.

Estate of Paul F. H. Zastrow, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN TO ALL persons having claims against the Estate of PAUL F. H. ZASTROW, deceased, to exhibit them to me with the necessary vouchers, at my residence in Woodland, Yolo County, California, within four months after the first publication of this notice.

C. F. ZASTROW, Administrator of the Estate of Paul F. H. Zastrow, deceased. (ap10w3)

Notice to Business Men—All parties doing business within the Town of Woodland are hereby notified that the City License for the ensuing quarter must be paid on or before the Fifth day of April.

GEO. W. ALFORD, Marshal. ap1w

OAKLAND POULTRY YARDS I.

Cor. Nineteenth and Castro Sts., Oakland.

Constantly on hand and for sale, choice specimens of the following varieties of Poultry:

Dark and Light Brahmas, White and Partridge Cochins, White and Brown Leghorns, Dork-hings, Fowls, Hamburgs, Plymouth Rocks, Game and Sebright Bantams, Bona Turkeys, Pekin, Aylesbury and Rouen Ducks, etc., etc.

Safe Arrival of Eggs guaranteed.

No Inferior Fowls Sold at any price.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

For further information send stamp for Illustrated Circular, to GEORGE B. BAYLEY, P. O. Box 1918, San Francisco, Cal. mb2w2m

Elston & White, DEALERS IN DRUGS, MEDICINES, Strictly Pure Medicinal LIQUORS, SCHOOL BOOKS, STATIONERY, Miscellaneous Books, Blank Books.

Agents for the sale of Bachelors' Celebrated KEY-EAST CIGARS, and Gravely's FINE CHEWING TOBACCO.

Dealers supplied with Cigars at Manufacturers' rates.

Prescriptions Carefully Compounded Day or Night.

The Proprietors being experienced Druggists, STORE, OPP. POSTOFFICE, WOODLAND, CAL. mb1w

Forty Acres of Land FOR SALE

ADJOINING THE TOWN OF WOODLAND.

The very desirable tract of land, containing forty acres, situated west of Ruppel's corner on the south side of Main street, known as "THE PATRICK CASEY PLACE," is now offered for sale, the owner having taken up his residence in another county. This is a Splendid Chance for Investment.

As Woodland is the county seat and is growing steadily in size and importance.

This site affords the advantages of a Town without having to bear the taxes that land does within the incorporation. The land is of the best quality, and as a water-ditch runs along the south side of it, can easily be irrigated.

For particulars, address PATRICK CASEY, Williams, Colusa County, or inquire at this office.

WASHINGTON PARK, DIXON.

This delightful resort, located at DIXON, SOLANO COUNTY, has been arranged and fitted up with great care for the use of Picnic and Excursion Parties.

having all the appointments usual at such pleasure grounds. The Park is under the management of

An Experienced Caterer.

To the enjoyment of the public, and who never fails to please those who visit him.

Particulars, address PATRICK CASEY, Williams, Colusa County, or inquire at this office.

GEORGE FRANK, Manager, Prop'r City Hotel, Dixon, Cal. mb1w

MRS. W. W. PORTER & CO., FASHIONABLE MILLINERY!

COLLEGE BLOCK, MAIN ST., WOODLAND, CAL.

FEATHERS, FLOWERS, RIBBONS, Agents for Butterick's Patterns; also The Remington Sewing Machine and everything in the jewelry line. mb1w

S. A. WOLFE, PHOTOGRAPHER.

S. W. Cor. J and 5th Street, Sacramento.

FIRST-CLASS WORK A SPECIALTY. mb1w3m

L. MACHEFERT, JEWELRY STORE

CRAFT HOTEL BUILDING, Woodland, Cal.

Clocks, Watches, Chains, Ladies' Gold Sets, Solid and Plated Ware, Gold Pens, Spectacles, and everything in the jewelry line. mb1w

HOME MADE SHIRTS,

Of the Very Best Quality.

And warranted to fit, for $1.75 and $2 each—as good as traveling agents sell for $3. Patronize home manufacture by giving your orders to

MRS. T. C. FOLKMAN, Classic Block Woodland. mb1w

WOODLAND RACE-TRACK!

In testimony whereof, I, D. M. BURNS, Clerk of the Sixth Judicial District Court aforesaid, do hereby set my hand and seal at the Seat of said Court, at Woodland, this 12th day of March, A.D. 1879.

By IGNACIO BROWN, Deputy, J. C. BALL, Attorney for Plaintiff. (mb2w2m)

AITKEN & FISH, PREMIUM

PIONEER MARBLE WORKS

177 R St., bet. 7th and 8th, SACRAMENTO, CAL. ap1w

WOODLAND VARIETY STORE!

Opposite College, Main Street, Woodland, Cal.

Full stock of Stationery & School Books, CIGARS, TOBACCO, CANDIES, TOYS, Pictures, Frames, Crocheted Amateurs, Cutlery and Variety Goods, Catapults, Books and Pictures a specialty. GEO. C. ST. LOUIS. mb1w

C. W. PROCTOR, PRACTICAL DRUGGIST,

Dealer in Drugs, Chemicals, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, AND DRUGGISTS' SUPPLIES.

UNDER CRAFT HOTEL, MAIN ST., WOODLAND. mb1w

WOODLAND MILLS,

J. M. RHODES, Proprietor.

ALWAYS ON HAND: Fine and Coarse Flour, Shorts, Bran, CORN MEAL, ETC. Grists and feed ground on short notice. Market Price Paid for Good Wheat. jaldw

$5,000.

Farm for Sale—160 Acres OF GOOD WHEAT LAND! Credit of one-half will be given if desired for one or two years. Inquire of

A. C. KEAN. F. B. CHANDLER, DEALER IN LUMBER

ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL, Elmira, Solano County; Winters, Yolo County; and Madison, Yolo Co., Cal.

All our stock purchased direct from the Manufacturers. mb1w

NOTICE!

Having sold our Grocery and Provision Store to Messrs. Charnak & Levy, the proprietors of the Farmers & Mechanics' Store, we take pleasure in recommending them to our friends and former customers.

THOMAS & BIDWELL.

By the above card it will be seen that we have purchased the well-known

GROCERY

—AND— PROVISION STORE

—OF— MESSRS. THOMAS & BIDWELL.

The two departments are now consolidated in one business, and we are prepared to furnish our Customers with EVERYTHING.

NEEDED FOR HOME USE!

BOTH IN THE DRY GOODS!

—AND— GROCERY LINE

Thankful for past favors, we solicit a share of the patronage of this community and will state that we offer

Superior Inducements to Permanent Patrons!

CHARMAK & LEVY, Farmers & Mechanics Store, EXCELSIOR BLOCK, WOODLAND.

SOMETHING QUITE NEW

Come One, Come All!

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR EVERYBODY.

IF YOU WANT MEALS AT THE FRENCH RESTAURANT!

You can have them now At San Francisco Prices!

OYSTERS.

California, Stewed.....25 Cts. " Raw.....25 " " Fried in Butter.....50 " " Pan Roast.....50 " Eastern, Fried.....50 " " Half Shell.....50 "

Board by the Week, $5.

Anyone wishing Hot French Rolls can have them at any time at 20 cents per dozen—four for ten cents. LEXON FIES for sale on Sunday.

A GREAT ACCOMMODATION.

It will be quite a treat to Farmers and others living out of town to be able to have meals served in private rooms for themselves and their children.

DINNERS PROVIDED TO ORDER.

Ball Suppers, Wedding, Luncheon and Surprise Parties furnished at Short Notice in the Best Style.

Ice-Cream, Fruits, Cakes, etc., will be furnished specially during the warm weather.

Best German Wine, Claret, Champagne and Best Cigars, of all kinds, at the Counter.

R. DENNEY, Prop'r. mb1w

GENERAL MACHINERY

—AND— REPAIR SHOP.

The attention of the People of Yolo and adjoining counties is called to the fact that

Messrs. Perry & Harris

Now have their Machine Shop in complete running order, and solicit the patronage of all who are interested in the Machinery line. Repairs on Engines, Separators, Feeders, Headers, Mowers, Plows, and all other Agricultural Implements, we make our specialty. We have

FACILITIES AND EXPERIENCE

For doing the same, and do not hesitate to say that we have AS GOOD MACHINERY AS CAN BE FOUND ON THE COAST.

THE BEST OF MECHANICS.

Both on Wood and Iron we have at all times. Call for your Machine work. Blacksmithing and Wood work, and satisfy yourselves, before transporting and paying the enormous rates of freight to and fro for miles away to the cities. By doing

FIRST-CLASS WORK

And square dealing, we are in hopes to merit your patronage.

Shop on First Street, near Bank of Woodland.

ap1w PERRY & HARRIS.

Woodland Meat Market!

A few doors West of Postoffice, BARNES & CO., Proprietors.

(Successors to Byrns, Gable & Co.)

ALL KINDS OF FRESH AND SALT MEATS

Kept constantly on hand, and of the best quality, including Beef, Mutton, Veal, Pork, Sausage, Lard, Etc., Etc.

The Highest Price Paid for Fat Cattle, Hogs and Sheep.

A DELIVERY WAGON will carry meats to any part of town.

The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited, and all who favor us with their orders may rely on fair dealing.

STOCK RAISERS ARE INFORMED that R. H. NEWTON has one of the finest Hill-bred Jersey hives in the country. He may be seen at the lumber yards in Woodland. ap1w

CONSOLIDATED.

AN IMMENSE STOCK.

—AND— GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES.

We have now consolidated our two establishments at the

PIONEER CORNER STORE,

Formerly occupied by F. S. Freeman & Co.,

And are ready to offer our Immense Selection of

DRY GOODS, FANCY GOODS,

LADIES' MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES,

Mens' & Boys' Clothing, Boots,

LADIES' AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,

GROCERIES,

Provisions and Crockery,

—AT— GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

A. NICKELSBURG & BRO.

SUCCESSORS TO F. S. FREEMAN & CO.

SMITH'S PIANOS AND ORGANS

—AT— WHOLESALE PRICES!

83,000 SMITH'S ORGANS

—AND— 40,000 PIANOS NOW IN USE.

Each Instrument Warranted for Ten Years!

Any style of Piano or Organ sent on 15 days' test trial by furnishing Banker's, Express or R. R. Co's. Certificate of Deposit for amount; also, Sheet Music at one-half marked price.

Send for Illustrated Catalogues and Price Lists to

JAMES S. SMITH, MANUFACTURERS' AGENT,

575 Market Street, San Francisco.

BRANCHING OUT.

S. T. PENDEGAST & CO.

Have added to their large stock of Boots and Shoes a full line of